

Youth Legal Service NSW

Provided by Marrickville Legal Centre

The Youth Legal Service (YLS) offers free legal information, advice and assistance to young people 25 years and younger across New South Wales.

We can advise on issues including:

- Employment law problems (e.g. bullying or discrimination at work, underpayment of wages and entitlements, or unfair dismissal)
- Owing and being owed money (including fines and mobile phone debt)
- Criminal charges
- Victims' support services
- Consumer law issues
- Complaints about police
- Problems at home

Community legal education

We are proud to play an educative role in the community to promote justice and protect human rights. We provide training and education sessions on request for young people and youth workers. If you'd like us to come deliver a session for your group, please email info@mlc.org.au

Youth resources

You can find a range of legal information and resources for young people, youth workers and adults supporting young people from some of our community partners.
